Platinum Jubilee Tea

Orange pekoe from the high altitudes of the Pedro Tea Estate in Sri Lanka, a landscape with blue sky and beautiful misty mountains. These estates are on the slopes of the lush hills where water falls cascade. The orange pekoe provides bright and delicate floral notes. The black tea leaves are from the lowlands of the Lumbini Tea Estate located 100km away, on the edge of the southern Singharaja rainforest. The combination of temperature, weather and soil allow the natural characteristics of this rare platinum-tipped tea to shine through. It has exquisite, complex notes of caramel and a sweetness unlike any other. With decades of experience and a rare skill level, these teas are expertly blended by our Tea Master to produce an exceptional cup - elegant and nuanced whilst remaining robust and full of character. This tea, fit for a queen is medium-bodied, pleasantly rich and sweet with delicate notes of caramel.

Green Wilderness Chai

This tea comes from Nilgiri hills or known as Blue Mountains in India. Nilgiri teas are well known for high altitude growing between 300 and 800 meters above sea levels and as a result they are flavourful, brisk and bright. This tea has been dry infused with some of the spices that are grown in the tea garden such as cinnamon, cloves and cardamom. The slow dry infusion makes this tea vibrant and refreshing to drink.

Wulong

Hand-picked from bushes that grow on the Wudong peak of Phoenix Mountain in Guangdong province, this tea is made in small batches by experienced Tea Masters. The tea has a fruity aroma and a smooth very refreshing flavour. Best enjoyed without milk.
